Knowledge Lab becomes Special Service Partner of Avaloq

Zurich, February 8, 2022 – The Zurich and Belgrade based consulting, software development and data science company Knowledge Lab joins Avaloq's partner network as an official Special Service Partner.

The new partnership aims to strengthen Avaloq's global delivery capabilities in the areas of the digital experience of Avaloq core and front systems and platform management.

With this alliance, the banking customers of Avaloq can expect innovative solutions and high quality delivered in the customization of their products.

"With our unique setup consisting of Open Shift expertise, our own development environment IVA as well as our teams in Zurich and Belgrade, we are perfectly positioned for our new mission. Joining forces with Avaloq was a natural fit, considering both companies histories of trailblazing and industry disruption", says Peter Häusermann, Founder and CEO of Knowledge Lab. "We have consistently delivered high-end results in very challenging projects over the past years. The excellently trained teams in Zurich and Belgrade combine a high delivery capability with web banking and core banking from a single source. We are thus very positive for the future."
